DETAILED ACTION

Acknowledgment is made of the preliminary amendment filed on 11/18/03. Claim 1 is currently pending.

Specification

1. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

- 2. On page 6, line 9 of the specifications, removal of the reference to "claim 1" is requested.
- 3. The lengthy specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.
- 4. The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

Art Unit: 2876

The following title is suggested: Coding Pattern Comprising a Plurality of Marks.

Claim Objections

5. Claim 1 is objected to because of the following informalities:

in claim 1, line 5, substitute the first occurrence of "its" with --each mark's--; and in claim 1, line 5, substitute the second occurrence of "its" with --each mark's--.

Appropriate correction is required.

Double Patenting

6. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

7. Claim 1 is rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 1 of U.S. Patent No. 6,663,008. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the instant application is a broader recitation of the '008 patent.

Application/Control Number: 10/714,894 Page 4

For instance, both the instant application and the '008 patent teach a product provided with a coding pattern, which comprises a plurality of marks, each of which represents one of at least two different values, characterized in that the coding pattern also comprises a plurality of nominal positions, each of said plurality of marks being associated with one of said plurality of nominal positions and the value of each mark being indicated by its location relative to its nominal position.

The instant application differs in that a plurality of nominal positions is claimed, whereas in the '008 patent, a raster comprises raster lines which meet in raster points to define a plurality of nominal positions is claimed.

With respect to the above discussion, it would have been obvious, at the time the invention was made, to use the claimed teachings of claim 1 of the '008 patent as a general teaching for a product which is provided with a coding pattern as claimed by the instant application. The instant application obviously encompasses the claimed invention of the patent and differ only in terminology.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

8. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Art Unit: 2876

9. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Winterburn (US 4,835,544).

Winterburn teaches a product (letter) which is provided with a coding pattern, which comprises a plurality of marks (simple dot), each of which represents one of at least two different values, characterized in that the coding pattern also comprises a plurality of nominal positions, each of said plurality of marks being associated with one of said plurality of nominal positions and the value of each mark being indicated by its location relative to its nominal position (col. 1, line 48-col. 2, line 2 and figures 1-4).

Conclusion

10. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Dowling (US 6,478,232) teaches compact optically readable data encoding.
